GLORY AND PRESENCE OF GOD

LIVING SAFELY IN A DANGEROUS WORLD

We are living in troublesome times, and as Children of God, it is important to walk in wisdom. Walking in wisdom includes knowing something and appropriately applying what we know. How do you apply the wisdom of God to everyday situations that involve a potentially dangerous interaction with the world or someone of the world? Here are some helpful tips on just how this can be done:

1. What do you do when someone shows up at your door asking to use the phone? How do we judge who needs help and who is out to cause us harm? You need to keep away from compromising positions. Offer to call someone for them by yelling through the door, but don't open your home and let them come in. If their claim is truly legitimate, this act of kindness will be sufficient for them.
2. Lock your car doors as soon as you get in.
3. If someone shows up at your door that you don't know and recognize, don't let them in. Yell-out in your roughest, toughest, loudest, most intimidating voice, "What do you want?" Don't just hide and pretend that you're not home because a criminal might see that as an opportunity to break-in to your empty home.
4. Don't shop in the middle of the night. You can wait until it is light outside.
5. As children, don't walk home from school through back alleys or apartment complexes; take the main roads home.
6. It is also a good idea to have a home address and a mailing address. With a mailing address, people don't know where you live.
